The university is required to review your financial documentation prior to issuing an I-20 or DS-2019 form. You must document sufficient funds available for your first year's academic and living expenses and assured sources of support for subsequent years. You are responsible for all payments to the university in accordance with the tuition/fee schedule in effect at the time of your enrollment for each semester of your attendance. The amounts shown on this form and on your I-20 or DS-2019 are estimates only. Your academic costs may vary depending on your program of study, the number of credits for which you enroll, and the date you commence study. Your living expenses may vary depending on your housing and lifestyle choices. All costs are subject to change.

1. Undergraduate students in F-1 and J-1 status are required to enroll full time during each fall and spring semester but are not required to enroll for summer. The tuition costs shown are based on minimum enrollment for nine months (fall/spring) of study and do not include summer tuition.
2. Graduate students in F-1 and J-1 status are required to enroll full time during each fall and spring semester. Some programs require summer enrollments, therefore the tuition costs shown vary based on minimum enrollment of your specific program.
3. Total costs listed are estimates and are subject to change. Tuition rates are set annually in late spring for the following academic year. Some programs may charge tuition at a higher rate. We reserve the right to request additional documentation if necessary prior to issuing your I-20 form. The latest tuition rates, listed by program, can be found at studentaccounts.gmu.edu/tuition-fees.

Note: Tuition may vary for graduate students holding assistantships. Stipends and benefits are determined by each academic department. You may use your stipend as partial proof of financial support. Please refer to your offer letter for award details and include a copy of the agreement letter with this form.

You must document your sources of funding for the full term of your study at George Mason University. Bank statements may include checking or savings accounts, certificates of deposit, or money market accounts. OIPS does not accept real property, corporate assets, or salary letters. Send current (within the previous 6 months) original bank statements and/or letters of support, including the appropriate signatures of the issuing authority.
